ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws of the United States, except temporarily to accord treatment in the United States for a disease or physical condition not known to exist at the time of his admission to the United States, or because he was afflicted with such disease or physical condition at the time of such admission, or to secure medical treatment, or because of his relationship to such alien, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel, but shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor pending the determination of his admissibility to land, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived shall be required to return him on board such vessel or to remove him to the country from which he came or to the country from which he embarked for the United States, or to any country willing to receive him, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and the cost of his removal from the United States, unless the Secretary of Labor shall report that in his opinion the cost of such maintenance or removal, or both, is unreasonable or excessive, or unless security for the payment of such cost is given satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor, and any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses or fails to return such alien on board, or to remove him from the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. Clearance of any vessel may be withheld pending the payment of the cost of maintenance and removal of any alien detained on board thereof, or the giving of a bond or undertaking sufficient to secure the payment of such cost, and clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has failed to comply with the requirements of this section.

(b) The Secretary of Labor shall cause to be made by the proper immigration officers, at the expense of the vessel on which they arrive, such medical examination (in addition to the examination provided for in section 16 of this Act) of aliens detained on board vessels or at such places as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor as he may deem necessary to determine whether any such alien has a disease or physical condition specified in subdivision (a) of this section, and shall cause to be certified to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived the name of any alien so certified to be suffering from any such disease or physical condition, and any such alien shall not be admitted to the United States but shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived, unless such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall furnish security satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor for the maintenance and removal of such alien. Such expenses of maintenance and removal shall be a lien against such vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other proceeding. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel refusing to comply with the requirements of this section.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any alien arriving on any vessel on which he arrived by reason of any of the provisions of this section, or of section 19 of this Act, has been refused admission to the United States, or has been deported, he may cause such alien to be returned to the United States if he shall find that such alien was a bona fide resident of the United States for a period of at least five years before the date of his deportation, and is not at the time of such return receiving public aid, and that such alien is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, except that he is not in possession of a valid immigration visa or is not within the admissible classes of aliens not required to obtain such visa, and that such alien was not convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude prior to the commission of the offense for which he was deported, or that such conviction was subsequently set aside by pardon, amnesty, or otherwise. Such alien shall be returned upon the vessel on which he arrived, or upon any vessel which will receive him, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and the cost of such return shall be a lien against such vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other proceeding. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel refusing to comply with the requirements of this section or the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens of which a manifest is required by section 4 of the act of February 20, 1907, to be prepared by the master of a vessel (Form I-420) shall not be destroyed or mutilated, but shall be delivered by the master to the foreign immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alien seaman is a "non-quota" immigrant under section 4 (c) of the immigration act of 1924, as amended, the master shall enter the letters "NQ" before the name of such alien on the list required to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman who is a bona fide resident of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Central or South America, or adjacent islands, and who intends to land temporarily in the United States solely in pursuance of his calling as a seaman, and who intends to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrives or some other vessel, shall be permitted to land without having a visa duly executed by a consular officer of the United States, provided the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrives shall furnish a bond in the penal sum of $300 for each such alien conditioned upon the departure of such alien with the vessel on which he arrives or some other vessel. Such bond shall be executed on Form I-418, and shall be filed with the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Each alien seaman for whom a bond is furnished shall be identified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer furnishing the bond, by means of a photograph affixed to the face of the bond and bearing the seal of the issuing corporation, partnership, or individual, or the initials of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer furnishing the bond, in such manner as to prevent the substitution of another photograph. Each alien seaman for whom a bond is furnished shall be required to present himself for examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the time and place designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Failure of any alien seaman for whom a bond has been furnished to present himself for such examination at the time and place designated shall render the bond immediately subject to suit and judgment for the full amount thereof. Bonds shall be furnished by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrives, and shall be executed by a surety company authorized to do business within the United States. Bonds shall be approved by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and shall be transmitted to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D. C., for cancellation upon the departure of the alien seaman from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel. Bonds shall not be cancelled upon the departure of the alien seaman from the United States on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived shall have furnished a bond in the penal sum of $300 conditioned upon the departure from the United States of such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel. Bonds shall be executed on Form I-419. Bonds shall not be cancelled upon the departure of alien seamen who have been permitted to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of medical treatment, hospitalization, or burial, or who have been granted extensions of their temporary permits for the purpose of obtaining such treatment, hospitalization, or burial, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of applying for a visa, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of applying for a passport visa, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of applying for a seaman's certificate of identity, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of applying for admission to the United States as an immigrant, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of taking passage for and departing from the United States to a foreign country, or who have been granted permission to land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of taking passage for and departing from the United States to a foreign country and who have been granted extensions of their permits for the purpose of awaiting transportation

Any such seaman who is permitted to land temporarily shall be deported as a seaman on board the first vessel sailing for a foreign port from the port at which he is landed, unless he shall be granted a further period of temporary residence by the Secretary of Labor, but no such seaman shall be granted a period of temporary residence longer than may be necessary for his medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who fails to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel sailing for a foreign port within the period of temporary residence granted him by the Secretary of Labor, or who fails to report for deportation when ordered so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States or who shall be deported as provided in this section shall be refused a visa to his passport by any consular officer, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not desert from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States and that he had reasonable cause to leave such vessel, or unless such seaman is in possession of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor showing that his case has been specially reported to him and that the Secretary of Labor has determined that the interests of the United States will not be prejudiced by the departure from the United States of such seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to comply with the request of any such seaman to be furnished with a certificate showing the cause for which such seaman was left behind, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing an alien seaman to the United States who shall refuse or neglect to report the departure of such alien seaman, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to such alien seaman a certificate stating the cause for which such seaman was left behind, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each such offense. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the name of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the nationality, last permanent residence (town or city and country), and intended future permanent residence (town or city and country) of each such alien, and such other information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to furnish to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has become ill, and the name of the hospital in which such alien was treated, and to report the death of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver to such immigration officer a true list containing the names of all aliens employed as aforesaid who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the number of those, if any, who have been hired and also the number of those discharged, and the cause, if any, for such discharge, so far as known, and the intended future permanent residence (town or city and country) of each such alien: Provided, That clearance shall not be granted to any vessel while it remains outside the territorial waters of the United States because of the failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver a list containing the names of those employed or discharged from the vessel while in port, but clearance may be granted by the proper immigration officer at the request of the master, agent, consignee, or owner upon the filing of a bond or undertaking approved by the Secretary of Labor in such sum not exceeding $10,000 as may be required by the Secretary of Labor conditioned for the delivery by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such list to the immigration officer at the next port at which the vessel may touch where such list is required by this section, or in default thereof the payment of the penalty which may be imposed by law for failure to deliver such list: Provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, issue a permit for the discharge of any alien seaman at any port for the purpose of medical treatment, and may require a bond in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such permit is issued conditioned for the payment of the cost of maintenance and transportation of such alien seaman to the port of foreign residence for which he was originally destined on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and such cost may be recovered in any action brought for the purpose in the district in which the vessel may be found or in which the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel may be sued. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to pay the cost of maintenance and transportation of such seaman to the port of foreign residence for which he was originally destined on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to alien seamen, shall be punished as a person convicted of a misdemeanor.

(a) Any alien seaman, whether master of a vessel or member of the crew, employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, but then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such seaman who is permitted to land temporarily shall be deported as a seaman on board the first vessel sailing for a foreign port from the port at which he is landed, unless he shall be granted a further period of temporary residence by the Secretary of Labor, but no such seaman shall be granted a period of temporary residence longer than may be necessary for his medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who fails to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, except temporarily for the purpose of embarking in the service of the vessel on which he arrived, or who fails to report for deportation when ordered so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States or who shall be deported as provided in this section shall be refused a visa to his passport by any consular officer, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not desert from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States and that he had reasonable cause to leave such vessel, or unless such seaman is in possession of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor showing that his case has been specially reported to him and that the Secretary of Labor has determined that the interests of the United States will not be prejudiced by the departure from the United States of such seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien seaman, or who shall refuse or neglect to furnish such alien seaman with a certificate stating the cause for which he was left behind, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the cost of such hospital treatment when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all alien seamen employed on board such vessel, showing the last foreign port from which each alien seaman came to the United States, the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, the manner in which he arrived, and such other information relative to each alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all alien seamen employed on board such vessel, showing the last foreign port from which each alien seaman came to the United States, the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, the manner in which he arrived, and such other information relative to each alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(b) Any alien seaman, whether master of a vessel or member of the crew, employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor, but then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such seaman who is permitted to land temporarily shall be deported as a seaman on board the first vessel sailing for a foreign port from the port at which he is landed, unless he shall be granted a further period of temporary residence by the Secretary of Labor, but no such seaman shall be granted a period of temporary residence longer than may be necessary for his medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other cause as may be approved by the Secretary of Labor. Any such seaman who fails to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, except temporarily for the purpose of embarking in the service of the vessel on which he arrived, or who fails to report for deportation when ordered so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such seaman who shall depart from the United States or who shall be deported as provided in this section shall be refused a visa to his passport by any consular officer, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not desert from the vessel on which he arrived in the United States and that he had reasonable cause to leave such vessel, or unless such seaman is in possession of a certificate from the Secretary of Labor showing that his case has been specially reported to him and that the Secretary of Labor has determined that the interests of the United States will not be prejudiced by the departure from the United States of such seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien seaman, or who shall refuse or neglect to furnish such alien seaman with a certificate stating the cause for which he was left behind, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the cost of such hospital treatment when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all alien seamen employed on board such vessel, showing the last foreign port from which each alien seaman came to the United States, the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, the manner in which he arrived, and such other information relative to each alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all alien seamen employed on board such vessel, showing the last foreign port from which each alien seaman came to the United States, the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, the manner in which he arrived, and such other information relative to each alien seaman as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman on being admitted to the United States under the conditions mentioned in the preceding paragraph shall be furnished by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be taken into custody and delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of the crew and passengers of alien nationality (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the Immigration Inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and not in advance of such arrival. The list or manifest of aliens may be typewritten or printed, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. (Form I–418) Shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is in possession of a "border-crossing" identification card (Form I–186) or a nonresident alien border-crossing card (Form I–185) issued to him by the American consular officer at the place of his last permanent residence abroad, the number of such card should be noted on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection at ports having a large number of arriving aliens, including aliens in transit, the master is requested to have the manifest prepared in the following manner: Arrange the names of aliens destined to the same State, city, or locality, so that they will appear together on the list, and so that the inspection officer can see at a glance how many aliens are destined to each locality. Where there are a number destined to the same locality, indicate the fact by underscoring the name of such locality or by some other means. Number the aliens on each sheet of the manifest consecutively, beginning with number one on each sheet.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of persons on board any alien seeking to enter the United States from any foreign port or place is to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I–418) and not to customs officers. A "nonimmigrant" is an alien entering the United States temporarily and solely for business or pleasure, such as a tourist, a visitor in transit through the country, a student, a diplomat, a treaty trader, or a temporary worker. All other aliens are immigrants.

SEC. 18. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, or any aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside the Republic of Panama, or the operator of any railroad entering the United States from any such place, shall be responsible for the detention on board and expenses incident to the removal therefrom of any alien who is certified by a medical officer to be afflicted with a communicable disease of a type specified in section 212(a)(6) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, or who is certified by the Attorney General to be afflicted with any mental disease or defect which may affect the ability of such alien to support himself or herself or to obtain employment, unless security is furnished as required by the Attorney General in such amount and form as he may require to guarantee the final departure of such alien from the United States, or the payment of the cost of such detention, or both. Such detention and removal shall be at the expense of the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof, except that no expense shall be incurred by the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof for the detention or removal of any alien certified to be afflicted with any communicable disease after the expiration of five days following the date of certification, unless such alien is detained or removal delayed by the refusal of any person to receive such alien, in which case the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof shall be responsible for such detention or removal, and for any expenses incurred in connection therewith. Nothing in this section shall be construed as imposing any duty, liability, or responsibility on any State, or political subdivision thereof, with respect to the detention or removal of any alien.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, until the Commissioner of Immigration, or his assistant in charge at the port of arrival, or the immigrant inspector in charge at any seaport where such vessel arrives, has been notified of the name of such alien seaman, the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, and the vessel on which he is to be employed, and has given his written permission to the master of such vessel to employ such alien seaman on board thereof. Such permission shall be granted only after such alien seaman has been given a careful physical examination by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officers). Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel without such written permission shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 hereof, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who is found to be afflicted with any communicable disease, or certified by the Attorney General to be afflicted with any mental disease or defect which may affect the ability of such alien to support himself or herself or to obtain employment, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 hereof, unless security is furnished as required by the Attorney General in such amount and form as he may require to guarantee the final departure of such alien from the United States, or the payment of the cost of such detention, or both. Such detention and removal shall be at the expense of the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof, except that no expense shall be incurred by the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof for the detention or removal of any alien certified to be afflicted with any communicable disease after the expiration of five days following the date of certification, unless such alien is detained or removal delayed by the refusal of any person to receive such alien, in which case the vessel, aircraft, railroad, or owner thereof shall be responsible for such detention or removal, and for any expenses incurred in connection therewith. Nothing in this section shall be construed as imposing any duty, liability, or responsibility on any State, or political subdivision thereof, with respect to the detention or removal of any alien.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may permit the alien seaman to be landed temporarily and under such conditions as he may prescribe for the treatment of the alien seaman pending his departure on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any other vessel which may be available for the purpose, or pending his hospitalization, if necessary. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in Canada, Mexico, Cuba, or adjacent islands shall be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

If any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel shall refuse or neglect to deliver either of the lists required by this section at the time of the departure of such vessel, or to report any case of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien employee concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be cleared while it remains during the performance of the duties of the inspector in charge, or while any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master is in default in the payment of any fine imposed by this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 3. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and shall not then unless notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to any time prescribed by section 36 of said act, namely, been served, the deposit specified in rule 33 has been made.

SEC. 33. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is notified and the alien seaman examined by the medical examiner(s), or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if ordered by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. SEC. 13. No alien seaman entering United States from adjacent foreign territory shall be permitted to land in the United States under the immigration visa employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, unless such alien seaman shall have been duly admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board such vessel for the return voyage, or unless such alien seaman is in possession of a seaman's certificate issued under section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended, and is a bona fide member of the crew of the vessel arriving in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving therein, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any place other than the port of arrival of such vessel, without having been inspected by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such period of time as may be specified by the immigration officer at the time of inspection or subsequent thereto, or within such period of time as may be extended by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Assistant Commissioner General, or Deputy Commissioner General, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation to such country is impracticable or will result in serious injury to the public interest, in which case he may cause such alien seaman to be deported to any country which he may select and which will accept such alien seaman. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place other than the port of arrival of such vessel, without having been inspected by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within such period of time as may be specified by the immigration officer at the time of inspection or subsequent thereto, or within such period of time as may be extended by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Assistant Commissioner General, or Deputy Commissioner General, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that deportation to such country is impracticable or will result in serious injury to the public interest, in which case he may cause such alien seaman to be deported to any country which he may select and which will accept such alien seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or any regulations made thereunder, or who shall refuse or fail to deport any alien seaman specified in this section when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such refusal or failure, and such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the penalties provided for in this section have been complied with.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company engaged in the transportation of aliens to the United States, or any agent of such transportation company in the United States, who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been refused admission by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who has been ordered deported in the first instance pursuant to section 19 of this Act, shall pay the cost of the maintenance of such alien while he is detained by the immigration authorities at the port of arrival and of his return transportation to the country whence he came, and, in addition, a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port in the United States who may be refused admission to the United States may be detained on board or at the port of arrival, in the discretion of the immigration officer in charge, pending the determination of the question of the right of such alien to enter the United States. Such detention may be required whether or not such alien has been issued a certificate as provided for in section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended, or has been granted shore leave under the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and whether or not such vessel is scheduled to depart upon a subsequent date. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien seaman who has been issued a certificate as provided for in section 4 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended, and has been granted shore leave, if the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived shall furnish a bond in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, and with such surety as may be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel scheduled to depart from the United States within a period of four months from the date of such bond, or within such period of time as may be extended by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Assistant Commissioner General, or Deputy Commissioner General, and upon the payment of the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained by the immigration authorities and of his return transportation to the country whence he came, and, in addition, the penalty of $1,000 in case such alien seaman is not returned to the United States within such period of time as may be extended by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Assistant Commissioner General, or Deputy Commissioner General, upon the application of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and upon the payment of the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained by the immigration authorities and of his return transportation to the country whence he came, in case such alien seaman is not returned to the United States within such period of time as may be extended by the Commissioner General of Immigration, Assistant Commissioner General, or Deputy Commissioner General, upon the application of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and upon the payment of the cost of the maintenance of such alien seaman while detained by the immigration authorities and of his return transportation to the country whence he came, and, in addition, the penalty of $1,000

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except one which has touched at no port except ports in the United States or Panama and has been inspected by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and has landed or taken on board no alien at any port or place not included in the United States or Panama), shall before the departure of such vessel from such port, cause to be delivered to each alien seaman on board at the time of inspection by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a physical examination by the medical officer of the vessel, and shall cause to be delivered to each alien seaman (whether inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the vessel or not) who has not been admitted to the United States, a certificate of the findings of such medical officer, which certificate shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or the equivalent thereof by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located (or any other officer authorized by the Secretary of Labor to do so) until the master of the vessel has delivered to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers or the equivalent thereof by the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located while a vessel is detained at such port by reason of the failure to deliver certificates as to the physical examination of any alien seaman, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the penalty to be imposed, if a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in such amount as may be fixed by the Secretary of Labor, or such lesser amount as may be approved by the collector of customs, is deposited with the collector of customs. Clearance papers or the equivalent thereof may be granted prior to the payment of the penalty to any vessel which has been detained at such port for more than ten days by reason of the failure to deliver certificates as to the physical examination of alien seamen, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such penalty.

(b) Every alien seaman on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel which has touched at any port or place in the United States or Panama, shall be furnished by the master of such vessel with a certificate, and shall not be granted a discharge until such certificate has been filed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Such certificate shall be in such form and contain such information as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated in favor of the alien seaman named therein. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be fined not more than $500 for each offense.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is detained at the expense of the vessel as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, the master of such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because to such hospitals as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 22. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside of contact with land to which an alien on board may belong, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily or to any part of such land to which such alien may belong, unless such alien shall have been duly inspected by such immigration officer or the officer in charge at the port of arrival for inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and a certificate issued by such immigration officer to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel that such alien may be landed. Such certificate shall be delivered to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel before such alien shall be landed. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such unlawful occurs. SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside the natural riverboat, or entrance to such contiguous as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place at which the vessel may touch. The exact form of the list may be determined by the master to suit the particular method of handling the list adopted by the steamship company, but the list must be made up in the exact order of the persons listed thereon, and no additions may be made to the list except at the end thereof. Any variation from the exact order of the list or any illegible entry may result in the imposition of the penalty of $10 for each such offense.

The list must be signed by the master or commanding officer, or by the first or second officer of the vessel, if the master or commanding officer is incapacitated by illness or otherwise from performing the duty.

SEC. 36. That every master of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place who shall fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list, to the best of the master's knowledge and belief, of all the persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or steerage passengers, who may have been taken on board the vessel at any foreign port or place, or who shall fail truly to report the sex, calling, age, nationality, last residence, and final destination of each and every such person, and whether he or she has a ticket through to such destination, and whether the head tax of $4 per capita has been paid for each such person, or who shall fail to report the marks of identification of the baggage of each such person, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list, to the best of the master's knowledge and belief, of all the persons on board such vessel who may have died during the voyage, and the cause of death of each such person, or who shall fail to report the sex, calling, age, nationality, last residence, and final destination of each person who may have been born during the voyage, and the sex, calling, nationality, and intended final destination of each such child born during the voyage, or who shall fail to deliver to each such person, or to the proper officer, at the time of the inspection of such person by the immigration officer, a card bearing a number corresponding to the number opposite the name of such person in the list required to be delivered to the immigration officer, or who shall fail to indicate in such list the name of the master or commanding officer, or who shall fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of the inspection of the master or commanding officer a certificate of the surgeon of the vessel, if any there be, as to the sanitary condition of the vessel, the number of passengers carried thereon, the number of deaths and the number and nature of cases of illness during the voyage, and the sanitary measures taken with reference thereto, or who shall fail truly to answer such questions as may be put to him by the immigration officer at the port of arrival touching the matters required to be reported in the list of passengers, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each and every such default or omission: Provided, That the master or commanding officer of any vessel shall not be required to deliver a list in connection with the entry of such vessel unless the vessel shall have been granted entry at the custom-house before coming to the immigration station, and the master or commanding officer shall not be required to deliver a list in connection with the entry of any vessel which shall have been granted entry at the custom-house before such list is required to be delivered to the immigration officer: And provided further, That the master or commanding officer of any vessel shall not be required to deliver a list in connection with the entry of such vessel at a port at which no immigration officer is stationed, but in such cases the master or commanding officer shall deliver a list to the customs officer performing the inspection of the vessel, which list shall be delivered by such customs officer to the immigration officer in charge at the first port at which such immigration officer shall be stationed: And provided further, That the master or commanding officer of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port, and having on board passengers destined to Canada, shall deliver to the customs officer performing the inspection of the vessel at the port of arrival a list containing the names of such passengers, and the customs officer shall certify on the list the destination of each passenger and report to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the number of passengers destined to Canada.

SEC. 37. That every master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States who shall knowingly bring to the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or any alien who has been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall be required to return such alien to the country whence he came or to the country from which he embarked, or to any country which may be willing to receive him, at the option of the master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintaining such alien while in the United States and for the cost of his return, unless within two years after the arrival of such alien in the United States he shall be admitted to the United States by the Secretary of Labor or by a court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens. The cost of maintenance of such alien shall be determined by the commissioner of immigration of the district in which he is detained, but shall not be in excess of $3 per day. The cost of his return shall be determined by the Secretary of Labor. Such cost of maintenance and return shall be a lien against the vessel, which may be enforced by libel filed by the United States attorney in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may arrive or depart. Clearance of the vessel may be withheld pending the determination of the matters involved in such lien, but the vessel shall be released upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover the amount claimed, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel to bring to the United States from any foreign port or place any alien afflicted with any loathsome disease, unless such alien shall have been specially excepted by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance of the provisions of section 3 of this Act.

(b) Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall violate the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such violation, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof nor while the payment thereof is delayed by an appeal. But clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien secured on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly failed to report the illness or death of such alien, or knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the territory of the United States on a vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, or on any vessel in which he subsequently departs from the United States to any foreign port or place, shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, and who shall be found in the United States, shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(g) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(h) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(i) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(j) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the territory of the United States on a vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port or place, or on any vessel in which he subsequently departs from the United States to any foreign port or place, shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct. Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, and who shall be found in the United States, shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct.

(k) Every alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in the United States shall be deported to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall otherwise direct.

(l) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(m) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(n) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(o) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(p) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(q) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(r) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(s) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(t) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(u) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(v) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(w) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

(x) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall, before such vessel departs from the United States, be required by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman in the United States for a period of two months, and sufficient to pay the cost of his deportation, unless such master, agent, owner, or consignee shall furnish to the collector of customs a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned to indemnify and save harmless the United States from all cost and expense that may be incurred by reason of the maintenance and deportation of such alien seaman. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the deposit of a sum greater than $300 for any one alien seaman.

(y) Every alien seaman who shall come to the United States on any vessel and who is employed on board any vessel while in the United States, shall be granted a conditional landing certificate by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which certificate shall be surrendered to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the failure to deliver such certificate to the immigration officer at the port of departure shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman.

(z) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived was prevented by the wilful act of the master, or that he knowingly made any false statement in relation thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and no vessel will be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, or upon the giving of a bond satisfactory to the collector of customs in such sum. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting the liability of any person, company, or corporation bringing into the United States any alien who becomes a public charge from a disease or accident which existed before the alien landed, for which liability such person, company, or corporation may be prosecuted at any time within two years after the landing of such alien.

Any alien arriving at the port of Philadelphia by water, whether destined to that city or not, must be examined by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service. Aliens who are destined to points in Pennsylvania will be detained at the immigration station at Philadelphia for special inquiry before a Board of Special Inquiry. Aliens destined to points outside of Pennsylvania will be detained at the immigration station at Philadelphia for medical examination only, unless the vessel upon which they arrive is scheduled to leave the port before the medical officers can complete the examination, in which case the aliens will be detained on board the vessel and examined by the medical officers on board. Aliens who are destined to points outside of Pennsylvania will be detained at the immigration station at Philadelphia for special inquiry before a Board of Special Inquiry, unless the vessel upon which they arrive is scheduled to leave the port before the aliens can be examined

No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer of the United States authorized to grant clearance papers in any case while the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is under arrest and charged with a violation of this section, or while any fine imposed upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner for a violation of this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to pay the fine upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(b) Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be examined by the immigration officers at the port of arrival and each alien seeking admission to the United States shall present an unexpired immigration visa and passport duly viséed by an American consular officer at the place where such alien was examined and issued such visa, except that nothing herein contained shall be construed to require a citizen of the United States to present a passport duly viséed by an American consular officer as a condition precedent to his admission to the United States. Every alien arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport viséed by an American consular officer, at the time of application for admission, or who came to the United States without having had an immigration visa and passport viséed by an American consular officer after the issuance of the quota immigration visa applicable to the alien, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport viséed by an American consular officer issued to the alien specifically entitling him to enter the United States, except as otherwise provided by section 3 of this Act, or who came to the United States at a time or place other than as designated by the immigration officers, or who is excluded by any law or treaty now existing or hereafter made, shall be taken into custody and detained for a hearing before a board of special inquiry, and shall not be allowed to enter the United States except upon the favorable decision of such board, or of the Attorney General after an appeal as provided by this Act. Pending the final determination of the question of the right to enter the United States of any such alien, the Attorney General may, in his discretion, (1) detain him temporarily, (2) grant him a parole as provided by section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917, or (3) admit him temporarily under such bond as may be required and such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. Any alien who is not clearly and beyond doubt entitled to enter the United States shall be detained for a hearing before a board of special inquiry. Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to deny, restrict, or limit the trial by court of competent jurisdiction of habeas corpus proceedings to determine the right of any person to enter, pass through, or reside in the United States.

(c) The Attorney General shall have the power and duty to control and guide the action of consular officers in the granting or refusing of visas, and may, in his discretion, refer to a board of special inquiry or appeal to himself any case in which the action of a consular officer in refusing a visa is brought in question by the person applying for such visa.

(d) The Attorney General shall have the power and duty to establish such boards of special inquiry and appeal, and such boards of review in the Bureau of Immigration, as may be necessary to assure a fair and expeditious consideration of all cases of immigrants who may be excluded from admission to the United States. Boards of special inquiry shall be composed of three members, a majority of whom shall be citizens of the United States, and shall have power to administer oaths and to take and consider evidence touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, and shall perform such other duties as may be required by the Attorney General. Boards of review shall be composed of five members, a majority of whom shall be citizens of the United States, and shall have power to affirm, reverse, modify, or remand for further hearing any decision made by a board of special inquiry. The Attorney General shall have power to appoint a chief examiner, assistant examiners, clerks, and such other employees as may be necessary to assist the boards of special inquiry and review in the performance of their duties, and to remove such appointees at his pleasure. The Attorney General may in his discretion designate any immigrant inspector to perform the duties of a member of a board of special inquiry at any station where such boards are in session.

(e) The Attorney General shall have the power and duty to establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, reports, entries, and other papers, and issue such instructions as he may deem necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act and the provisions relating to the immigration, exclusion, or expulsion of aliens from the United States.

The said list or manifest shall be signed by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel or by the first officer or purser thereof and sworn to before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port who is found in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law of the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of other aliens ordered deported from the United States. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port who is found in the United States in violation of this Act or any other law of the United States shall be deported in the manner provided in the case of other aliens ordered deported from the United States.

(a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintaining such alien seaman on board such vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigrant inspector or who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the district in which the inspector has determined that the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel has failed to comply with the provisions of this section until such fine has been paid or sufficient security given therefor.

(b) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, he may permit such alien seaman to depart from the United States on any vessel bound for a foreign port willing to accept him as a passenger, and such vessel shall be hereby relieved from any fine or penalty for bringing such alien seaman to the United States. The cost of maintaining such alien seaman while in the United States and the cost of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may permit such alien seaman to remain in the United States for such time as he may deem necessary for such purpose, not exceeding five months from the date of the arrival of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such tax as may be assessed against such alien seaman under section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended (U.S.C., title 8, sec. 132), in an amount not exceeding $500 as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the deposit of such bond such alien seaman shall be entitled to the same privileges in respect of shore leave as members of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived. The cost of maintaining such alien seaman while in the United States shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall remain in the United States after the departure of such vessel as a deserter, shall be liable to a tax of $8 for each month or part thereof during which he remains in the United States after the departure of such vessel, which tax shall be a lien upon the vessel on which he arrived, and shall be assessed and collected in the manner provided by the Secretary of Labor. Such tax shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law. The owner of the vessel on which he arrived shall be liable for the payment of such tax, and the vessel shall not be granted clearance papers from the district in which the inspector has determined that the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel has failed to comply with the provisions of this section until such tax has been paid or sufficient security given therefor.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may permit such alien seaman to depart from the United States on any vessel bound for a foreign port willing to accept him as a passenger, and such vessel shall be hereby relieved from any fine or penalty for bringing such alien seaman to the United States. The cost of maintaining such alien seaman while in the United States and the cost of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list checked below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the inspector at the time of the inspection required by section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917. The list is to consist of every alien, including citizens of the United States entitled to the nonimmigrant privileges described in section 3 of the Act of May 22, 1924, who intends to depart from the United States by vessel, and must be delivered to the inspector at the time of inspection. Failure to deliver such list or to prepare it correctly may result in delaying the departure of the vessel. Where no aliens are to be listed, a list should be prepared containing the word "none" and subscribed and sworn to before the inspector. Each list must be numbered consecutively, beginning with number 1 for the first list delivered by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, and the last list should be marked "final list." When an alien is entered on a list, the number of the list on which he appears should be shown in the proper column. Aliens destined to the same port may be listed on the same sheet, but aliens destined to different ports must be listed separately. Aliens in transit through the United States to foreign countries should be listed separately from aliens destined to ports in the United States. Each list must be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel or by the first officer or other officer designated to perform the duties of the master in case of his illness or absence from the vessel. The list must be verified by the master or commanding officer before the immigrant inspector assigned to the vessel. Errors in the lists should be corrected by the master or commanding officer or the first officer or other officer designated to perform the duties of the master in case of his illness or absence from the vessel, before the vessel departs from the port. After the vessel has departed, no changes may be made in the lists, but any additional aliens discovered shall be listed and reported to the immigrant inspector at the next port of call in the United States. Any additional aliens who may have been inadvertently omitted from the lists or who may have subsequently come aboard the vessel shall be listed and reported to the immigrant inspector at the first port of call in the United States. Any alien who may have been taken off the vessel for medical treatment shall be reported to the immigrant inspector at the port where such alien was landed, and the cause of such removal noted on the list. Any alien who may have died on board the vessel shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the physician in charge of the case, and the date of death noted on the list. Any alien who may have been born on board the vessel shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the parent, and the date of birth noted on the list. Any alien who may have been lost overboard shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the first officer or other person having knowledge of the fact, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been transferred to another vessel shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the first officer or other person having knowledge of the fact, and the name of the vessel to which transferred noted on the list. Any alien who may have been admitted to the United States shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been granted shore leave shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the first officer or other person having knowledge of the fact, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been detained for special inquiry at the port of arrival shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been refused admission to the United States shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been granted withdrawal of application for admission shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been ordered deported shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been granted voluntary departure shall be reported to the master of the vessel by the immigrant inspector, and the date noted on the list. Any alien who may have been granted permission to depart without prejudice

That alien arriving at any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens who have been taken on board the vessel at any foreign port or place, and intend to land in the United States, or who may be landed from said vessel, whether or not they have been destined to the port of arrival; or have contracted to come to the United States or otherwise; and such other information in relation thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, under penalty of $200 for each alien concerning whom such information shall not be furnished as aforesaid, except in the case of aliens in transit through the United States to foreign countries, who have been destined thereto, and have the means and intention to proceed thereto within a reasonable time, and except in the case of aliens who are in possession of unexpired immigration visas, or who are citizens of the United States, or who have been duly admitted to the United States after examination by immigrant inspectors at some other port of arrival, and who are returning to the United States from a temporary visit abroad: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, or other document authorized by the Secretary of Labor, to the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and the vessel may be detained until the payment of such penalty is finally determined and such penalty, if imposed, may be remitted or mitigated in like manner and upon like conditions and limitations as are provided for the remission or mitigation of other penalties imposed for violations of the immigration laws: Provided further, That no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the master thereof refuses to deposit the amount of such penalty with the collector of customs or other officer authorized to demand such deposit, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty and costs that may accrue, in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or when in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor the vessel is not subject to such penalty: Provided further, That clearance may be granted to any vessel prevented from sailing within the period of twenty-four hours after the application therefor by reason of stress of weather or other cause deemed sufficient by the collector of customs, upon the filing of a bond or undertaking in such sum as may be required by the collector of customs, not exceeding $2,000, conditioned upon the payment of such penalty as may be finally imposed therefor: Provided further, That no bond given to secure the payment of a penalty incurred under the provisions of this section shall be discharged otherwise than by the payment of such penalty unless it shall appear that the person who took out the clearance of the vessel for the purpose of evading the payment of such penalty did not have knowledge or reason to believe that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel intended to violate the provisions of this section: And provided further, That the master of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver a list, as required by this section, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any question touching the immigration of any alien on board his vessel, or who shall fail to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or his duly authorized agent, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

Any seaman who refuses to be listed or inspected, or who refuses to be identified, as provided in this section, may be refused admission into the United States, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act, and may be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act.

(a) Every alien seaman, before being admitted into the United States, shall be examined by the Commissioner of Immigration, or other officer of the United States authorized to perform the duties of such Commissioner, at the port of arrival, and such seaman shall be identified by the certificate of identification provided for in section 6 of this Act. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be enforced on board every vessel entered in the foreign trade and every vessel entered in the coastwise trade of the United States which is required by the provisions of section 4463 of the Revised Statutes (U.S.C., title 46, sec. 701) to have on board a crew of specified numbers, grades, and ratings, and shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the forecastle or other place accessible to the crew. The list shall be printed in such size type and hung in such light as to be easily read by a person standing near it. It shall be kept so posted while the vessel is in port, and a copy thereof shall be delivered to the master before the vessel leaves port. The list shall not be defaced or altered except by the authority of the Secretary of Labor or a shipping commissioner, and a copy of any change made therein shall be immediately delivered to the master. Any master who violates any provision of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of the navigation laws of the United States which shall be required by law to employ a certificated officer or seaman shall, before the vessel leaves any port of the United States, have at least 75 per centum in number of the crew of each department, and not less than three in any case, who shall be able to understand the orders given by the officers of the vessel in the English language, and the seamen shall be distributed throughout the several watches in such manner as to insure to each watch a reasonable proportion of able seamen. Any seaman who shall refuse to obey such orders, or who shall be unable to understand them because of his ignorance of the English language, shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for each such offense, to be sued for and recovered by the United States in a civil action, or shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for each such offense, to be imposed by the supervising inspector-general, the assistant supervising inspector-general, or the local inspectors, after hearing the charges and the defense of the accused, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Commerce upon the recommendation of the supervising inspector-general: Provided, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply when the vessel is in distress or is proceeding from a port in which the master, after having used due diligence, was unable to ship a sufficient crew, to a port where he can ship such crew without unreasonable delay, or when the vessel is on a voyage of less than 24 hours' duration from port to port: Provided further, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply to masters or seamen who, at the time of shipping, are lawfully and actually employed on the vessel as members of the National Guard or Naval Militia of the State, Territory, or District of Columbia in which the vessel is enrolled, and who are required to perform duty with their organizations during the time the vessel is in port: Provided further, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply to masters or seamen who, at the time of shipping, are lawfully and actually employed on the vessel as members of the Naval Reserve or Coast Guard Reserve of the United States, and who are required to perform duty during the time the vessel is in port.

(a) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of Commerce to cause to be posted in the pilothouse of every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of this section a list showing the number of men required to be employed on such vessel as a result of the application of this section, and the grades and ratings of such men. Such list shall be printed in such size type and hung in such light as to be easily read by a person standing near it. It shall be kept so posted while the vessel is in port, and a copy thereof shall be delivered to the master before the vessel leaves port. Any master who violates any provision of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each offense.

(b) That the Secretary of Commerce is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may employ such assistants, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may make such expenditures for rent, printing, binding, books, stationery, furniture, office equipment, and other supplies, and for traveling expenses, as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, to be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the Secretary of Commerce or such officer as he may designate for the purpose.

(c) If the Secretary of Commerce finds that the application of the whole section to the vessels of the class to which it applies is not necessary to secure the safety of such vessels, he may, in his discretion, exempt such vessels from such provisions of this section as he may deem proper, and may revoke such exemptions when in his judgment the necessity therefor arises.

SEC. 37. That every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of section 36 of this Act shall, before leaving any port of the United States, have on board a crew sufficient in number and so classified and rated as to be able to operate the vessel with safety and to prevent undue fatigue to the members of the crew. The Secretary of Commerce shall have authority to determine the sufficiency of the crew of any vessel with respect to the employment of officers and seamen, and to issue certificates specifying the number of officers and seamen required to be employed on such vessel, and the grades and ratings of such officers and seamen. Such certificates shall be issued to the master, owner, or agent of any such vessel upon request, and a duplicate shall be filed and preserved in the office of the supervising inspector-general. Whenever the Secretary of Commerce has reason to believe that any vessel is undermanned, he shall cause the vessel to be inspected by the local inspectors, and if the complement of officers and seamen is found insufficient, the vessel shall be detained in the port of entry or prevented from entering any port of the United States until the Secretary of Commerce is satisfied that the vessel is sufficiently manned. Any vessel which shall depart or attempt to depart from any port of the United States in violation of this section, or which shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section within 24 hours after notice of detention, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000, for which sum the vessel may be libeled, and, in addition thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $500 and to imprisonment for not more than two years. The Secretary of Commerce may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for in this section upon such terms as he shall deem just and proper.

SEC. 38. That every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of section 36 of this Act shall, before leaving any port of the United States, have on board a sufficient number of able seamen to enable the vessel to be properly handled in the event of an accident to the officers or to a number of the crew, but in no case shall there be on board less than two able seamen. Any able seaman who shall refuse to obey the lawful orders of the master, mate, boatswain, or other officer of the vessel in charge of the watch, or who shall be unable to understand them because of his ignorance of the English language, shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for each such offense, to be sued for and recovered by the United States in a civil action, or shall be liable to a penalty of $20 for each such offense, to be imposed by the supervising inspector-general, the assistant supervising inspector-general, or the local inspectors, after hearing the charges and the defense of the accused, which penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Commerce upon the recommendation of the supervising inspector-general: Provided, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply when the vessel is in distress or is proceeding from a port in which the master, after having used due diligence, was unable to ship a sufficient crew, to a port where he can ship such crew without unreasonable delay, or when the vessel is on a voyage of less than 24 hours' duration from port to port: Provided further, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply to masters or seamen who, at the time of shipping, are lawfully and actually employed on the vessel as members of the National Guard or Naval Militia of the State, Territory, or District of Columbia in which the vessel is enrolled, and who are required to perform duty with their organizations during the time the vessel is in port: Provided further, That the penalties provided in this section shall not apply to masters or seamen who, at the time of shipping, are lawfully and actually employed on the vessel as members of the Naval Reserve or Coast Guard Reserve of the United States, and who are required to perform duty during the time the vessel is in port.

(a) That no alien seaman employed on board any vessel engaged in the foreign trade shall be discharged in any port of the United States, unless he shall have made complaint before the United States shipping commissioner, or other officer having similar powers, that he desires to be discharged, and the reasons therefor, and such officer shall have given notice in writing to the master, owner, or agent of such vessel of such complaint, and a hearing thereof, before the vessel shall be granted clearance: Provided, That no such alien seaman shall be entitled to a hearing before leaving the vessel unless he shall have requested the same before the vessel reaches the dock or, if the vessel does not dock, before the vessel has completed mooring.

(b) That the Secretary of Commerce shall have authority to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may employ such assistants, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may make such expenditures for rent, printing, binding, books, stationery, furniture, office equipment, and other supplies, and for traveling expenses, as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, to be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the Secretary of Commerce or such officer as he may designate for the purpose.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the application of the whole section to the vessels of the class to which it applies is not necessary to secure the safety of such vessels, he may, in his discretion, exempt such vessels from such provisions of this section as he may deem proper, and may revoke such exemptions when in his judgment the necessity therefor arises.

SEC. 39. (a) That every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of section 36 of this Act shall, before leaving any port of the United States, have on board a crew sufficient in number and so classified and rated as to be able to operate the vessel with safety and to prevent undue fatigue to the members of the crew. The Secretary of Commerce shall have authority to determine the sufficiency of the crew of any vessel with respect to the employment of officers and seamen, and to issue certificates specifying the number of officers and seamen required to be employed on such vessel, and the grades and ratings of such officers and seamen. Such certificates shall be issued to the master, owner, or agent of any such vessel upon request, and a duplicate shall be filed and preserved in the office of the supervising inspector-general. Any vessel which shall depart or attempt to depart from any port of the United States in violation of this section, or which shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section within 24 hours after notice of detention, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000, for which sum the vessel may be libeled, and, in addition thereto, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $500 and to imprisonment for not more than two years. The Secretary of Commerce may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for in this section upon such terms as he shall deem just and proper.

SEC. 40. (a) That every vessel of the class subject to the provisions of section 36 of this Act shall, before leaving any port of the United States, have on board a crew sufficient in number and so classified and rated as to be able to operate the vessel with safety and to prevent undue fatigue to the members of the crew. The Secretary of Commerce shall have authority to determine the sufficiency of the crew of any vessel with respect to the employment of officers and seamen, and to issue certificates specifying the number of officers and seamen required to be employed on such vessel, and the grades and ratings of such officers and seamen. Such certificates shall be issued to the master, owner, or agent of any such vessel upon request, and a duplicate shall be filed and preserved in the office of the supervising inspector-general. The Secretary of Commerce may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for in this section upon such terms as he shall deem just and proper.

(b) That no alien seaman employed on board any vessel engaged in the foreign trade shall be discharged in any port of the United States, unless he shall have made complaint before the United States shipping commissioner, or other officer having similar powers, that he desires to be discharged, and the reasons therefor, and such officer shall have given notice in writing to the master, owner, or agent of such vessel of such complaint, and a hearing thereof, before the vessel shall be granted clearance: Provided, That no such alien seaman shall be entitled to a hearing before leaving the vessel unless he shall have requested the same before the vessel reaches the dock or, if the vessel does not dock, before the vessel has completed mooring.

(c) That the Secretary of Labor shall have authority to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may employ such assistants, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, and may make such expenditures for rent, printing, binding, books, stationery, furniture, office equipment, and other supplies, and for traveling expenses, as may be necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section, to be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the Secretary of Labor or such officer as he may designate for the purpose.

(d) That if any alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States under the provisions of this section shall desert while the vessel on which he arrived is in port in the United States, it shall be the duty of the master, owner, or agent of such vessel to report the desertion to the immigration officer of the district in which the desertion occurs within 24 hours after the vessel shall have been cleared or sailed, and to deposit with such immigration officer the sum of $50 to be applied to the expenses of the capture and deportation of such alien seaman. Failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall subject the master, owner, or agent of such vessel to a penalty of $50 for each desertion, to be recovered by the United States in a civil action, or by the withholding of clearance papers.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The law described below applies to vessels of the United States and to foreign vessels while in the waters of the United States. It requires the master of the vessel to report the illness or death of any person on board his vessel, and to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the name, age, sex, nationality, last residence, destination, and other information concerning each alien passenger. The penalty for failure to report or deliver the list is a fine of not more than $100 for each offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien seamen employed on vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign ports shall be inspected by the immigrant inspectors at the time of the vessel's entry into port, and such seamen as are admitted shall be subject to the provisions of section 2 of this Act relating to the payment of the head tax and to the requirements of section 3 of this Act relating to the physical and mental examination of aliens. Masters or other persons in charge of vessels bringing alien seamen to the United States who fail to report, deliver lists, or pay the head tax in the case of seamen admitted, as required by this section, shall be subject to the penalties prescribed for such offenses in section 8 of this Act. Masters or other persons in charge of vessels who refuse to permit the immigrant inspectors to board such vessels for the purpose of performing their duties under this section shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each offense. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of seamen while the vessel on which they arrive is in port, but masters or other persons in charge of vessels may be required to deposit with the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to pay the head tax of any seaman who may be employed on board such vessel and who may be certified by the medical officer to be suffering from a mental or physical defect, or disease, which is likely to affect his ability to earn a living, such sum to be refunded upon the departure of the seaman from the United States or his certification for examination as an immigrant. If the seaman is certified by the medical officer as being afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be detained on board or at quarantine subject to the regulations of the Public Health Service, and if he is finally admitted he shall be deported within five years like other aliens. Seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States shall not be permitted to land temporarily without first obtaining permits so to do from the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and such permits may be granted under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Seamen who have been admitted temporarily to the United States may be required by the immigrant inspectors to give bond, with sufficient sureties, in such sum and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, to guarantee the return of such seamen to the vessels on which they arrived, or to guarantee the departure of such seamen from the United States from some other port within a specified time. Masters or other persons in charge of vessels who fail to deliver for inspection seamen who have been granted permits to land temporarily, or who fail to present for examination seamen who have been required to give bond for their departure, shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each such seaman. Seamen who desert while in port may be arrested without warrant and taken before the United States commissioner for hearing, and deported at the expense of the appropriation available for the expenses of the immigrant service at the port of arrival. Seamen who have been granted temporary permits to land, or who have been required to give bond for their departure, and who fail to depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of such permits, shall be deported at their own expense or at the expense of the owners of the vessels on which they arrived, if the deportation is effected within five years after the date of arrival. Seamen who desert and are deported at the expense of the appropriation mentioned shall be deported to the country whence they came, to the port at which they embarked, to the country to which the vessel on which they arrived belongs, or to the country in which is situated the foreign port for which the vessel was bound when the seamen embarked in the United States, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Seamen who are deported at the expense of the appropriation mentioned shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted as immigrants. Masters or other persons in charge of vessels who fail to report the illness or death of any person on board their vessels, or to deliver lists containing the information required by this section, or who refuse to pay the head tax for any seaman employed on board their vessels, shall be subject to a penalty of $10 for each such person in respect of whom they fail to report or deliver lists, or fail to pay the head tax. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, and shall report annually to Congress the number of seamen who have been admitted temporarily to the United States under the provisions of this section, the number who have been required to give bond for their departure, the number who have departed from the United States, the number who have been deported at the expense of the appropriation mentioned, and such other information in connection with the administration of this section as he may deem necessary or advisable.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 19. That unless excepted from its provisions by the Immigration Act of 1924 or by subsequent treaty or law, every alien now or hereafter admitted into the United States may be required by the Secretary of Labor to be examined as to his physical and mental condition by a United States medical officer, and for the purpose of such examination any such alien may be required to submit himself within the United States to such examination at the port of arrival or at such other time and place as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, whether such alien shall have been admitted or not, or to which place he may subsequently come for the purpose of naturalization or otherwise. Any such alien found to be mentally defective, feebly minded, epileptic, insane, or afflicted with constitutional psychopathic inferiority, chronic alcoholism, tuberculosis in any form, or chronic trachoma, which said last-named disease is hereby declared to be a dangerous and contagious disease, shall be certified to the Secretary of Labor, and any such alien who may become a public charge within two years after his entry from causes existing prior to his admission shall be deported as provided by law. Any alien certified under this section who shall appeal from the decision of the medical officer shall be given one certificate by the medical officer making the examination, setting forth the findings of said medical officer as to the mental or physical condition of such alien and the reasons therefor, and shall be given a reasonable time to appeal from such decision to the Secretary of Labor, and the said alien may introduce before the Secretary of Labor one expert medical witness in his behalf, who may be present at the examination of said alien by the medical officer, and who may examine such alien, but such witness shall not be present during the consideration of the case by the Secretary of Labor unless the Secretary of Labor shall so direct. The decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the mental and physical condition of any alien examined hereunder. Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect the power of the Secretary of Labor to deport any alien who becomes a public charge from causes not existing prior to his admission to the United States.

(b) Every alien who at any time shall be found advocating or teaching the unlawful destruction of property; or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining a belief in, teaching, or advocating the unlawful destruction of property; or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization which writes, circulates, sells, distributes, or publishes any book, paper, document, or written or printed matter, teaching, advocating, or suggesting the unlawful destruction of property, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided in this section for the deportation of aliens certified by the medical examiners. Any such alien shall be deported whether such unlawful destruction of property is actually consummated or not.

(c) If the Attorney General shall be of opinion that deportation of any alien will result in serious injury to the public interest because such alien is needed as a witness in the case of the United States or any State against any violation of the immigration laws, or any violation of the penal laws relating to counterfeiting, or any violation of the antitrust laws, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in narcotic drugs, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in persons for immoral purposes, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in intoxicating liquors, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in arms or munitions of war, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in gold or silver coin or bullion, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in counterfeit or spurious coin, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in white slaves, or any violation of the laws relating to the suppression of traffic in opium or other narcotic drugs

If a line is not checked, the certificate does not authorize the master to do any act or service for the purpose specified by that line.

The master is also cautioned that the vessel may be required to have on board a certificate of financial responsibility for the payment of wages of seamen who may be employed on board the vessel, and that the master may be liable to a penalty if he employs any seaman who has not been provided with such a certificate.

The master is cautioned that this certificate does not relieve him from the necessity of complying with the navigation laws of the United States, and that he may be liable to a penalty for each violation of such laws by himself or by the vessel.

Before the certificate of any person who has been employed as a seaman on board the vessel is issued, the master must see that such person has been discharged from the vessel in accordance with the navigation laws of the United States, and that the name of such person and the capacity in which he served on the vessel are correctly entered in the vessel's official log book.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman otherwise admissible from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, or arriving at a port of the United States on the Great Lakes or connecting waters, shall be permitted to land in the United States except for such time as the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall be required to detain him on board, and for such period immediately following the departure of such vessel from such port as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, not exceeding five days, unless such alien shall sooner depart on another vessel or shall sooner be entitled to land in the United States. Any such alien who shall land in the United States during such period shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless he shall show to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to depart on such vessel or that he was detained ashore for the purpose of testifying in any case or proceeding before any court or immigration officer, and that he has since departed or is ready and willing to depart on the first vessel on which he can obtain passage. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall fail to detain any alien on board thereof as required by this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the amount of such penalty. Such penalty shall be remitted or refunded if it be judicially determined that no such penalty was incurred. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety conditioned upon the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined to be due. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any penalty paid hereunder, or cancel any bond given to secure the payment thereof, whenever he shall be satisfied that there was no intentional violation of this section.

SEC. 14. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States, including such hospital treatment as may be necessary in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor, and for the removal and subsistence outside the United States, of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been notified of his departure or of his discharge from such vessel, and for the payment of the cost of burial in the United States of any such alien seaman who may die while in the United States. The bond required of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel by section 4 of the Immigration Act of 1917 shall not be given or accepted in discharge of the liability imposed by this section, but nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve any such bond from any liability now or hereafter existing under section 4 of the Immigration Act of 1917.

(b) Every alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands shall be entered on the list required to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and any alien seaman employed on such vessel who is not listed and who fails to produce a certificate from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel that he has been entered on the list delivered or to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless he shall show to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to procure the certificate before his departure from his last foreign port or place of embarkation, and that he has since exerted every reasonable effort to procure the certificate, which shall be forwarded to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be detained on shore pending the final action of the Attorney General. Any such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outward manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, except such seamen as are specified in the proviso to section 4 of the Immigration Act of 1917, shall be taken before a person having authority to grant visés on passports (except a consular officer), and such person shall endorse upon the certificate of identity issued to such seaman by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel on which he arrived the word "conditional", a description of such seaman, and the name of the vessel on which he arrived, and shall forward a copy of such certificate to the Secretary of Labor. Such seaman shall not be granted a visé on a passport for the purpose of obtaining a visé on a certificate of identity issued to him as a conditional seaman, unless he shall show to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has since departed or is ready and willing to depart on the first vessel on which he can obtain passage. Any such seaman who shall land in the United States during such period shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless he shall show to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to depart on such vessel or that he was detained ashore for the purpose of testifying in any case or proceeding before any court or immigration officer, and that he has since departed or is ready and willing to depart on the first vessel on which he can obtain passage. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall fail to detain any alien on board thereof as required by this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the amount of such penalty. Such penalty shall be remitted or refunded if it be judicially determined that no such penalty was incurred. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of such sum or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety conditioned upon the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined to be due. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund any penalty paid hereunder, or cancel any bond given to secure the payment thereof, whenever he shall be satisfied that there was no intentional violation of this section.

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Western Hemisphere, or intended to ship on a vessel in the United States coastwise trade, or to depart therefrom for any place outside the United States, unless a sufficient number of such excluded alien seamen, as determined by the district director, to whom application for the removal of such alien seamen is made by the master of such vessel, are detained on board such vessel or at such other place as the district director may designate. The cost of the maintenance and medical treatment of such alien seamen, pending their removal from the United States, shall be paid out of appropriations made for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The cost of transportation of such alien seamen shall be paid out of appropriations made for the enforcement of the immigration laws, or out of any moneys deposited by or on behalf of such alien seamen for the purpose of defraying the cost of their transportation. Any sum deposited which is in excess of the cost of maintenance and medical treatment of the alien seaman, and of the cost of removing him, shall be refunded upon the departure of the alien seaman or upon the deposit of such sum as required by the district director, whichever is later.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deposits of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to ship owners he may cause him to be deported on steamer vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such expenses shall not be charged elsewhere until such expense has been paid to its bona fide transportation to the destination of the alien seaman.

(d) There shall be added to the bond any additional amount found necessary by the district director to cover the cost of maintenance and medical treatment of any alien seaman after the vessel on which he arrived has departed from the United States, and any such additional amount shall be deposited with the district director. Any sum deposited which is in excess of the cost of maintenance and medical treatment of the alien seaman, and of the cost of removing him, shall be refunded upon the departure of the alien seaman or upon the deposit of such sum as required by the district director, whichever is later.
